

~~SECRET~~

Planovoye Khozayaistvo is a monthly Russian-language periodical, published in Moscow by the Soviet State Planning Commission (Gosplan). The magazine has a format similar to the American publication Foreign Affairs and averages 90 to 100 pages per issue. Estimated circulation is 30,000. As the Gosplan organ, Planovoye Khozayaistvo deals with general economic subjects, particularly with questions of economic planning. G. M. Sorokin is chief editor.

A. Sharkov, author of the article, is not further identified in the publication. It has not been possible to make a positive identification through Washington files. Previous articles attributed to A. Sharkov include "American Imperialism's Enslavement of Japan" (1952) and "Construction of Automobile Highways in Japan" (1955).

~~SECRET~~